Thanks to You

"Together, we continue to be agents of change..."

B4P regularly receives thanks from people and we give God the glory. We want to be a source of encouragement to our partners who give from their treasure so others can receive in the Name of Jesus Christ. Read these snippets of stories and you will understand why we are praising God and passing thanks to you.

"Just like to send you a heartfelt 'thank you' for last night's B4P event. I thoroughly enjoyed the ministering. Thanks for your prayer and message. This morning as I was driving on my way to work, I listened to the B4P CD

What Should I Do, Lord? Yes, there was a sense of peace around me. Thank you and praise our faithful God. Hallelujah!" —LL, Australia. I remember meeting her and she said, "I've never been to anything like this before!" In her struggles, she was uplifted through the life-changing Word of God and the power of prayer.

"I was on my way to hear the B4P presentation on Spiritual Secrets about Suicide. My GPS took me the wrong way. I ended up in the wrong place. My phone was just about dead. It was late and I was frustrated, so I was just going to go home. But then I felt like God spoke to me saying, 'Go buy a phone charger.' I went to 7-11 and bought one. I entered the conference hall just as Annette was about to speak. I have been having suicidal thoughts, but what she said touched my heart and I felt a change. We had prayer together and I felt so much relief." The invitation for B4P to minister in Utah came because of the tragedy of teen suicide being the highest in the nation there.

Setting up boardwalk ministry in Freeport

We flew to Utah on air miles and stayed at the host group's ministry house (complete with bunk beds!). Our host also provided our rental car. Most B4P overseas missions minister to people who do not have financial resources to help us get to them. B4P partners help us preach the gospel, heal the sick, and bring peace to the oppressed through Holy Spirit power in refugee camps, hospitals, open air meetings, and to train clergy and lay associates in the developing world.

"I get so much out of the B4P television program, but now I just have cable. Can I still see the show?" —CC, NY. "Yes!" View The B4P Program on MNN network as well as on Channel 21. Thanks to B4P volunteers who do the camera work and the technological wonders that get our program on the air! Join us if you have tech skills and can volunteer time to get God's Word out.

"You prayed for my daughter and the latest tests show she has been healed! Thank you so much for your faithfulness. We are thanking Jesus Christ for the life He gives us." People call B4P to receive prayer and to give praise reports. Yesterday a woman told me, "I received very discouraging news from my doctor and called B4P for prayer. Denise (B4P volunteer) answered the phone. She prayed a beautiful prayer, such an encouraging experience. I can't tell you how much I appreciated it."

When people receive prayer from B4P, they are not just hearing nice words from a caring person. They receive the supernatural power of Jesus Christ from His Blood shed at the cross and from His Resurrection.

They receive scriptural prayer based on 1Peter 2:24, "By His stripes we were healed." It is by Christ's stripes, the whipping He received and the crucifixion He underwent that caused His body to be one massive wound. It is by this punishment Jesus took for us that we are healed. We are the sinners. We are the ones who deserve to hear the gavel come down and the judge pronounce, "Guilty!" But Jesus Christ took our verdict of guilt and the judgement of death we deserved. Jesus died on the cross and gave us an inheritance of salvation and healing. Every B4P associate prays with this knowledge. Supernatural power is released during prayer and the effect is transformative.

"You didn't know, but when I came to the B4P meeting and you prayed for me I was suicidal. That night, I was healed from all suicidal thoughts. I praise Jesus for you."

"My niece in the army has taken the Spiritual Secrets About Suicide book and DVD to a conference on military suicide. Pray it gets into the right hands—military organizations could really use this book."

"Is there some way you can help us on our Air Force Base? We have a suicide every week," —Non-military employee working on Utah base. When the door opens, B4P will respond. Two women of influence in NY have approached school boards, trying to get SSAS into public schools. As of yet, the door has not opened. Please continue to pray.

Together, we continue to be agents of change bringing healing to the nations through Jesus Christ. Glory to God and thanks to you.

Creative Generosity

Bridge for Peace continues to be blessed by the creativity and generosity of children and young adults who discover ways to support our ministry. As they respond to God's heart to serve and make an impact in the world, they often use their sphere of influence to reach others.

Social media has become a daily connection for many people, both young and old. Nick Gordon, 28, used his Facebook page as a platform to reach out to others on behalf of Bridge for Peace. Facebook offers people an opportunity to post a fundraiser for their birthday. Nick chose B4P as his because he believes in their mission of bringing hope and healing to others through Jesus. Knowing that B4P reaches people all over the world, he felt his support could help to make a global difference. He wanted to be part of what the ministry is doing by reaching out to others to make it known and raise awareness. Nick raised $422 as he invited others to donate as a way to celebrate his birthday with him.

Emily Scarbrough was working toward her Girl Scout Gold Award, the most highly regarded award for girls. To earn the Gold Award, a girl must show that she has made a difference in her local community or beyond by choosing an issue that she cares about and create a plan to impart change. Emily chose the Children's Village in Uganda desiring to contribute in a meaningful way that would enrich the lives of the children. She created 30 individual chalkboards that were taken to the orphanage by a mission team. The chalkboards give the children continuous opportunities to draw and learn when at times there may be limited access to paper. The children are all enjoying them, thanks to Emily. As a second part of her project, Emily made 150 birthing kits that have been sent to Uganda and Zambia to help create a safe sanitary situation for a mother to give birth to her child. The goal is to help decrease mortality rates during childbirth.

Children at St. Brigid Our Lady of Hope Regional School in Westbury have been committed to supporting Bridge for Peace for many years after first hearing about the B4P farm development project. As the Uganda projects continue to grow, they are excited about the Children's Village and the B4P International School. A group of several "missionary students" along with their Reading teacher, Maryanne Hassett, run a school store open to students twice a week where they can purchase small items under $1 such as pencils, erasers, breakfast bars. At the end of each year they send all the profits from their sales to Bridge for Peace.

When couples marry, they often choose to give a small gift as a remembrance to the guests who celebrate their wedding day with them. Two couples chose to forego the gifts in place of a donation to Bridge for Peace in honor of their friends and family. As guests arrived they were met with a lovely framed explanation of the couple's choice along with information about the ministry of Bridge for Peace, giving others an opportunity to learn about the ministry and its mission.

God's goodness and love flows in and through the lives of our children and young adults. The Holy Spirit is alive and active through their creativity and generosity of heart. We are especially thankful for the way they respond to His leading by reaching out to others to preach the Gospel. We thank God for them and pray that they will be richly blessed as they continue to be a vessel of God's love to the world.

On the air in Utah: Doris exposes polygamy in Mormonism

Thankful to be Saving Lives and Saving Souls

The siren's scream grew closer. The blue emergency light pierced the dusk as the police SUV raced around the corner of the Utah industrial park. Offering a prayer for safety, Ed and I entered the hall to meet Russ, Truth Radio manager and conference emcee. He invited us to minister on suicide prevention from a spiritual perspective.

After our radio interview with Russ and praying for people on that broadcast, Doris, who escaped a polygamist community as a teen, invited me on her program "Polygamy: What Love is This?" Doris said, "Utah has the highest rate of teen suicide in America." We talked about strategies in my book Spiritual Secrets about Suicide. As we left the recording room, those attending the taping shouted encouragement. (Doris agreed to an interview with B4P. Hear her story on B4P Vimeo channel. Click blue button above.)

At the conference, a woman who heard my interview approached asking, "Could I talk to you? I didn't know if I should tell you or not, but on the program you said keeping it a secret was a red flag. I have sometimes heard a suggestion that I drive off the road. Or that I harm my child..."

I replied, "Jesus heard the suggestion to jump from a great height. Just like you, Jesus didn't follow the suggestion. Just like you, Jesus told His story." (SSAS pg. 73)

She nodded. "I've been carrying this for a long time." Tears flowed as we prayed together. Finally, she smiled—like the brilliance of sunshine breaking through dark thunderheads.

At our table, Ed leaned to me and whispered, "The police we saw? They prevented an attempted suicide in the next parking lot." I am sure B4P team intercession played a role in the rescue. I went to the stage to share my conviction that the power of Jesus Christ can deliver people from despair.

Russ wrote, "Ed and Annette, you know Jesus and Jesus knows you, and you love people like Jesus loves people. I saw this while you were in Utah and I am grateful for your ministry. Thanks for helping to prevent the evil reality that presented itself to Elijah, Jonah, and Jesus. Suicide prevention is needed from a Biblical standpoint, and I will pray many more will be able to pray with you... while embracing the love and mercy of Christ."
